🌐 VISAS

Most countries in America and Western Europe do not require a tourist visa to enter Peru, and the maximum length of stay granted by the authorities is 183 days (it cannot be extended). For a longer stay with other objectives (business, study, work, etc.), previously, it is necessary to request the corresponding visa from the Peruvian consulates.

Visiting Peru must present a passport with a minimum validity of six months after entry into the national territory.

For more information on the countries that require a visa to enter Peru, visit the website here (in Spanish): Link

For more information on the visa process, visit the website here (in Spanish): Link

💰 MONEY EXCHANGE

The official currency of Peru is the Sol (S/). There are bills of 10, 20, 50, 100 and 200 soles, coins of 10, 20 and 50 cents, and 1, 2, and 5 soles. It is recommended to exchange currency at banks and currency exchange agencies. It is also possible to withdraw money in soles or US dollars at ATMs, but the exchange rate is usually higher.

🚗 TRANSPORT

Your stay in Peru begins at Aeropuerto Internacional Jorge Chavez (Lima Airport). It is located in Callao, 11 kilometers (ca. 7 mi) northwest of Lima Center, the nation's capital city, and 17 kilometers (ca. 11 mi) from the district of Miraflores.

From the airport, there are only three ways to get to your hotel or meeting venue in Miraflores: renting a car, taking a taxi, or taking a bus/shuttle service.

- ❖ For the first option, you can find information here: Link
- ❖ Authorized taxis inside the airport, the information is here: Link
- ❖ If you are comfortable sharing transportation with others, the shuttle service may be suitable for you. Please follow the link provided here: Link

We strongly recommend using authorized taxis (mainly from the airport to Miraflores) or a taxi app for moving through the city. Uber, Cabify, and Didi are some options for getting safely.

The expected trajectory by taxi from the airport to Miraflores or nearby districts like Barranco or San Isidro.

NOTE:

Pedestrians should be extra cautious because car drivers do not always yield or obey the traffic signs.

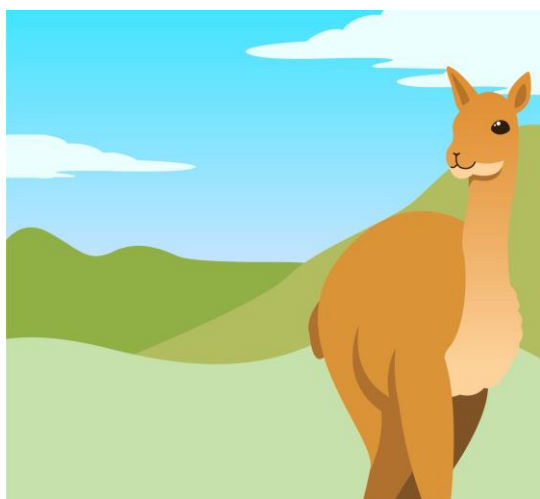

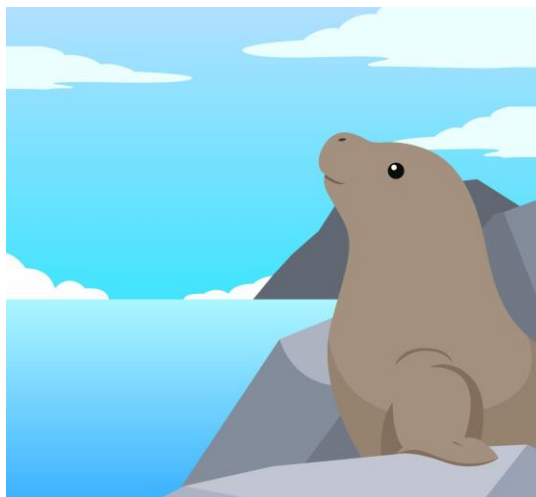

Given the erratic traffic situation prevalent throughout the day in Lima, we especially advise against renting a vehicle for traversing the city.

CLIMATE & WEATHER

The Andes Mountain Range makes Peru a country with great climatic diversity:

The Coast

From Tacna to Tumbes (including Lima, of course) has a mild to warm climate, moderate but with high humidity and dense fog in winter, where temperatures range from 12 to 18 °C. In summer, there is little fog, and temperatures range from 25 to 35 °C. Heavy rains occur from December to April, especially in the higher areas. During the other seasons, the average temperature is around 20° C.

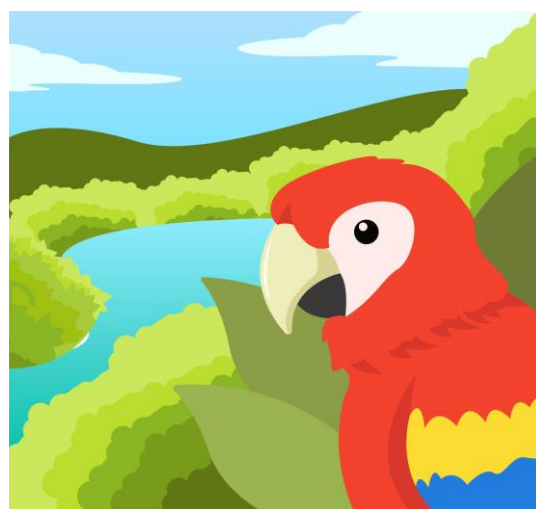

The Andes

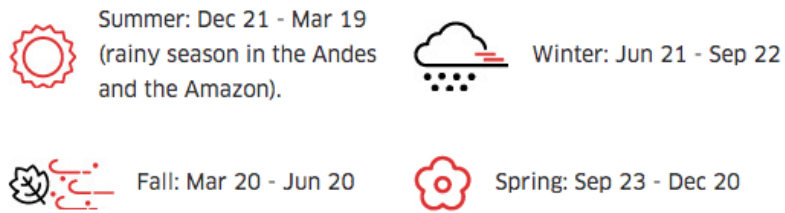

It has two seasons: summer (April – October), with sunny days, cold nights, and little rain (an ideal time to visit), with temperatures reaching up to 24 °C, and at night it can drop to -17.8 °C. There is abundant rain in winter (November – March), and temperatures range between -3 and 15 °C.

The Amazon

Like the Andes, the Amazon has two well-defined seasons: the rainy season (November – March) with abundant precipitation, and the low-rainfall season (April – October), ideal for visiting. The humidity is very high throughout the year. Occasionally, between May and August, the temperature can drop to 8-12 °C.

The seasons of the year (Southern Hemisphere):

Peru is in the GMT -5h time zone.

VOLTAGE

The standard voltage is 220 V at a frequency of 60 Hz in Peru.

We advise leaving devices that do not support this voltage at home, as they may be damaged; otherwise, you could buy a voltage converter. Power plugs and sockets (outlets) of A and B types are predominantly used. C type is not very common but can be found in older structures and small hotels.

LOCAL SECURITY

Lima is a large metropolis in a developing country, in which petty thefts and muggings are a growing problem. On the other hand, Miraflores is a particularly safe tourist district and visitors should be fine with some basic precautions.

It is a good idea to keep a copy of your identity documents with you and keep the originals in a safe place together with other valuables, in your hotel safe.

When walking, watch out for bag snatchers, and don't carry large sums of money. Keep objects of value hidden and watch your handbag and luggage. Do not change money in the street.
